President's Message

by Wayne Raupe

I want to take this time to congratulate three individuals who absolutely deserve recognition by the archery community here in California. Jim Cox, Earl (EW) Williams and Gary McCain for have being inducted into the California Archery Hall of Fame (CAHOF). Each of these individuals have contributed in one way or another to the promotion and preservation of archery in California. Additionally, they have accomplished much through their abilities with a bow and arrow either on the target ranges, afield hunting or both. What they have done or accomplished has made them stand out from the rest of the Californian Archers. In most cases it takes a lifetime of dedication to our favorite sport with many accomplishments before an individual is considered by the CAHOF Committee for induction into the CAHOF. I congratulate each one of you on a lifetime of a "Job Well Done".

A brief history of CAHOF: CAHOF was the brainchild of Arlie and Cathy Clift back in 1976. Arlie and Cathy wanted to have a method of honoring individuals in California for their accomplishments and for their promotion of Archery in California, the Nation and or the World. The CAHOF proposal was presented to the CBH/SAA Board of Governors at the CBH/SAA Annual Meeting in 1976. The Board instantly accepted the proposal as part of the CBH/SAA State Program, allowing the CAHOF Officers to be self-governed. As such, the Officers/Committee Members are the ones that review and consider the individuals for induction and, through a secret ballot, vote on the individuals to be inducted into the CAHOF at the following CAHOF Banquet. We must thank Arlie and Cathy for bringing this program to CBH/SAA and the 1976, CBH/SAA Board of Governors for making this a viable part of CBH/SAA.

To give you all a heads up... it appears there will be NO change in the Office of the President and Vice President as we have not received any notice that anyone is willing to step in and take over the office that George Papac and I currently hold. However, the Annual Meeting is about 20 days away so there is still a chance that it could change. Also, there is only one individual who has tossed his hat into the arena to assume the position of the 2nd VP Hunting, the position that Craig Fritz has held for the last 22 years. That person is Jason Duysings. He is the only one that tossed his hat into the arena back in October 2017, and as far as I know there is no others to run against.

Just a reminder to all of you that would like to get involved in CBH/SAA and assume other offices in CBH/SAA. The 2nd VP of Field, Target and the Indoor terms will expire in 2019 so it is important that you make your minds up and submit your request to your Region and have them nominate you for the position of your choice. I have not received any notice that the current 2nd VP's are going to step down and not run for the office again. So, there could be a ballot vote in December to determine the Office holder for 2019 and 2020. I would love to see others get involved and require a vote to be taken as this would show that others are interested in making sure that... when us "OLD FOLK" croak there will be others that are willing to promote and protect CBH/SAA and archery in California.

Remember, no matter what kind of bow you bend or stick you shoot... we are one family and we must remain united!!! There are many who want to take your archery equipment away from you... no matter if you are a target shooter or bowhunter!!!

Management plans for public lands are reviewed and/or modified on a regular basis. Changes are done through a process the public can participate but the public in most cases are unaware or unwilling too. Public notices from government agencies are posted to their websites and on a limited basis, these notices are sent to media outlets as "news release".

In general most conservation groups find these notices and bring attention to them so their members are aware of the proceedings. Public meetings are scheduled generally in a couple of places close to where the lands are in question. Written letters and/or comments can also be sent to the agency to be included in the decision process. The key for conservation groups is for its members that find or look for these releases to get that information to their persons in charge. CBHSAA members, your legislative team does a good job of finding this information but sometimes it gets through the cracks. We have a new president and administration, we don't know how they will proceed in the management of public lands but there is/was a bill in congress that would transfer lands from federal to state ownership. Most states don't have funds to properly manage these lands so they may sell them to private loosing public access. If you use public lands to recreate on, it's important that individuals look for this information and respond by sending it to the leg reps and/or comment yourself by letter of voice to your congressmen.

California National Archery
in the Schools Program Report
By Robert Moore

The California National Archery in the Schools Program (CaINASP) was adopted by the Department of Fish and Wildlife (DFW) in October 2005. Initial training of teachers and volunteers took place at Weimar middle school east of Sacramento. Steady progress has been made on continued certification of additional schools throughout the state. A virtual state championship tournament was established in 2011 to qualify a state delegate to attend the National Championship. The 2018 State championship will be held Saturday February 17th at Sierra College in Rocklin, CA.

More information can be found at DFW website <https://www.wildlife.ca.gov/Learning/CALNASP/Tournaments>.

I finished up 2017 by settling in to my new job as a field biologist and managed to squeeze in a few successful hunts before the season ended. While in the field, I acquired permission to hunt ground squirrel and several other small game species on a large portion of private property in Southern California (south western San Bernardino County). Please contact me if you are interested in this opportunity to hunt small game.

We are starting off 2018 with great news! On December 6, California Department of Fish and Wildlife approved CBH's request to allow bowfishing for catfish in Big Bear Lake, Lake Isabella and the Sacramento San Joaquin Delta. Be sure to review Section 2.25 of the forthcoming Freshwater Sport Fishing Regulations for details.

Looking to add to your small game species list this month? The following small game are in season (to name a few):

- Eurasian Collared Dove (year round)
- Jackrabbit (year round)
- Raccoon (through March 31)
- Badger (though Feb 28)
- Fox (though Feb 28)
- Muskrat (though March 31)
- Mink (though March 31)

Refer to <https://www.wildlife.ca.gov/regulations> for additional species information, hunting season dates, and shoot times.

Stay tuned next month for schedule dates for the Lake Isabella Carp Shoot and Palo Verde Tilapia Shoot!

Don't forget to submit your small game harvest reports. See you in the field or at the range...

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA WILDFIRES

by Mike Pottorff

In Southern California, wildfires are a part of our ecology's floral growth cycles with many plants requiring fires to free their seeds from their capsules.

The healthiest ecosystem holds sample of all stages: grass, forbs, brush, and old growth. Each of these stages benefits one set of species more than others. To achieve the desirable mosaic of disparate stages of plant-life to enhance disparate fauna species, is a achieved through controlled burning. This basically recycles carbon for us carbon based creatures. The fastest recoveries are those performed during the wet time of the year, and not merely to prevent runaway fires but to lower the temperature of the fires below holocaust fires—those fires that burn the root-balls of fire ecology dependent plants that regenerate new stems and leaves, which come back with the next rain. Plants burned at the driest time of the years might take three to five years if they come back at all, leaving us with no plants and no associated wildlife.

Not burning brush, leaves is with an old growth forest with decadent old woody brush that has created a canopy over the ground depriving it of sun and precluding the growth of grasses and seed production. Its primary function is to feed forest fires. And if the entire tract is this age it is libel to go up in flames together, and, if it is in the hot, dry time of the year it will be a protracted holocaust burn attaching a period of no vegetation at all to a period where the vegetation present was of low value to wildlife. And when this massive plot comes back, it will all be in grasses—great for seed eating rodents but not so great for nesting migratory neotropical birds, or browsing deer.

So why don't we plan these mosaic burns to provide different growth stages/ages of plants? Answer: we do.
So why don't we plan these mosaic burns to provide different growth stages/ages of plants? Answer: we do.

So why don't we implement these plans? Stupid reason, and like most, it is government related. We are limited to do these burns during kite flying season in the spring, when it is not raining, when it is not windy—which is hardly ever—and when air quality standards deem it permissible. In my 20 years on the San Diego County Fish and Wildlife Commission we appropriated funds for a dozen controlled burns. However, with all the restrictions, we were allowed only a very narrow window to conduct these burns. We appropriated funds for 12 of these burns, but the weather, wind, and clean air stars only aligned for us to complete three of them. Most often it is the air quality regulations that nix the burn.

The Clean Air Act was supposed to help the environment but it is responsible for holocaust fires, the loss of lives and property, and for a lack of contiguous habitat types in particular and decadent habitat in general. Clean air is great but it is not a question if these fires will happen, but when. Best they be small and of short duration—small frequent doses of smoky air are much better than it all at once endangering all of us.

Of course, there are a contingent of greenies that allow their emotions to overpower the brain they are not using, and decide that old growth forests should be saved because some birds nest in the hollows of old growth trees. They assumed that without old growth, these birds would disappear. They picked the spotted owl as their poster bird, noting that they were few and far between on the North Rim of the Grand Canyon and decided that logging was responsible for the decline. They ignored the fact that these owls are typically found no higher than 5,000 foot elevation and that the Aquarius Plateau was 8,000 feet. Half of the mountain was closed to logging. The owls did not return despite the closures saving their nesting sites, and, it appeared that Goshawk numbers started to decline. The government doubled down on its flawed thesis and closed all logging, putting the lumber town of Fredonia out of work. Seems like, in the case of spotted owls, if one wanted to raise them commercially, the operant growing grounds would include no trees but seed producing grassy fields and many owl nesting boxes on poles to live in and perch upon. The area would become mouse heaven and a local diner for owls. But, while that would be the best single species solution for a spotted owl or goshawk, it would not serve an ecosystem. The owls and goshawks declined as the forest thickened and less and less sunlight hit the forest floor to support the grasses, whose seeds would feed the mice who would feed the raptors. Other greenies argued that burns destroy dead wood and brush laying on the forest floor, which would act like mulch, to preserve surface moisture More often than not, allowing the forest floor to be covered with "kindling" only increases the ultimate fire that occurs to be more severe than desired. If the managers were concerned about ground water, they would check the existing well heads in our drainages for permits, as well as checking the required water sources for grazing permits to determine if the requisite water source for cattle and wildlife is accessible or if the water taken away in tanker truck is not being marketed instead of beef. Buying three small bottles from the store at a buck apiece, makes selling water more lucrative than selling an equal volume of hamburger, which takes 14 months to prepare while well water is pumped out of the ground, lowering the ground water table below the roots of many of the forest's plants.

Government regulations are precluding prudent habitat and wildlife enhancement, while stoking wildfires.

BLACK DEER???

More Rare Than Albino

The odd “black” deer has shown up here and there, from the East Coast to the Great Lakes to the northern Rockies. In fact, below you’ll find a photo of a striking melanistic 8-pointer shot in southeastern Pennsylvania in 2002. But it’s safe to say that at any given time, there are now more melanistic whitetails alive in Central Texas than in every other part of the planet combined. Melanism is actually fairly common in all or parts of eight counties: Hays, Travis, Comal, Williamson, Blanco, Guadalupe, Burnet and Caldwell.

Rarest Whitetails of ALL? by George Whittington

In terms of coloration, which whitetails are the rarest of all? Most hunters would claim that distinction belongs to albinos, which lack any pigment in their skin or hair. But as unusual as it is to see a whitetail that’s far too light in color, it’s even less common to see one that’s far too dark.

On the continent as a whole, “melanistic” or “melanic” deer – so named because their bodies produce far too much of the hair, skin and retina pigment known as melanin – are definitely the rarest of the rare. While millions of whitetails have been harvested across the continent in modern times, only a token number of cases of melanism have been documented. In fact, it’s safe to say that most whitetail hunters have never even heard of melanistic deer, much less seen one. For that matter, only a few research biologists ever have observed one in the flesh.

Among those who have are Dr. John T. Baccus and John C. Posey of Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. Their school’s location between San Antonio and Austin gives them handy access to melanistic whitetails for research, for as it turns out, most of the world’s supply of these animals lives within an hour’s drive of the campus.

The eastern edge of Texas’ Edwards Plateau region and adjacent areas of the Blackland Prairie region are the epicenter of the world’s population of melanistic whitetails, for reasons not well understood even by the two researchers. In going over the scientific literature, Baccus and Posey have been unable to find any record of melanistic deer being documented anywhere prior to 1929.

Tim Harden, hunting on Weableau Creek Outfitters properties in Missouri, missed a BIG buck at 30 yards... Yep 30 yards! On the last day of the hunt he decided to shoot at a smaller target at 45 yards... he connected with a perfect shot on this spike... Go figure!!! Congratulations Tim!

Danny Antillian had an exciting and successful hunt in the mountains of California. After being successful on his hunt he and his hunting partner, Mike Schrosbree, found 2 bucks over 170 that his son, Hunter, could stalk when he arrived in camp in a couple of days.

Matthew Burns took his 6 year old son, Tommie, on a last of the season hunt. Tommy has been hunting with his dad for the last 3 years so he is becoming a seasoned hunter himself. Matthew had this buck on his trail cameras several times. Because it would be the last chance to hunt deer he decided to take this buck home with him. Tommy was excited, as you can see on his face, to see his Dad connect on this buck and even helped packed it out when he asked Dad to put the heart in his back pack. Matthew says, "Hunting with Tommie on Christmas Eve was the best Christmas present ever."

The bucks Hunter Antillian's Dad and Mike Schrosbree had located for him eluded him but Hunter was able to connect on this unique trophy. This is a major proud Dad moment for Danny! See 2nd pic for uniqueness of antler growth.

The ladies of bowhunting are kinda putting some of us big ol bad boy... bowhunters.. to shame. This deer season in San Diego County, Mary Williams filled her AO and A22 tags with some tasty, free range, organic meat for her table! Congratulations Mary!

Congratulations to Ed Fanchin on a great hunting season while being successful in several different states. Retirement agrees with Ed, he has had a great Year! I asked him if he would like to include a story about his successful hunting. Ed replied, "What story? I shot 5 arrows, shot 5 animals. End of story! Some guys are so easy to work with!"

RINEHART

APRIL 14 APRIL 15

Break the Barriers, Inc. (BTB), a non-profit (501) (c)(3) corporation since 1984, was given a stewardship of influence in the world of Inclusion. By combining students of all abilities using athletics, arts, health, fitness and education programs— barriers are explored and broken. Our sphere of influence with Ability Awareness, Outreach & Education has reached State, National and International levels—far beyond our imagination.

Break the Barriers International Inclusive Ability Center provides USA Archery sanctioned to all ages and all abilities. Trained and certified by Jake Kaminski, two time Olympic silver medalist, and led by 6 time USA archery team member, Hunter Salisbury, Break the Barriers provides Junior Olympic Archery Development Classes to youth and USA certified archery to adults. In addition, a free archery program is available for Veterans who train year-around and compete in the Valor Games, the Wheelchair Games, the Senior Games, the Paralympics and tournaments throughout California and Nevada. Break the Barriers also provides free archery classes for at-risk youth and students who are blind and visually impaired.

Break the Barriers relies on student fees, grants, foundations and donations to accomplish our mission: Celebrating awareness & victories of all abilities through exceptional programs, outreach, and education.

Thank You for your Donations to the CBHSAA Legislative Defense Fund!
By Robert Moore Legislative Coordinator

I want to thank those that have donated funds to our Legislative Defense Fund. With your donations, you're Legislative Team, representing the six DFG Regions, can attend important meetings and react to issues that are impacting our sport. We can also meet our Financial Obligations to Gaines and Associates who represent us in the state capital, at all DFG meetings, and up and down the state when and where needed. Their goals are to promote wildlife conservation and protect our archery and hunting heritage within the state political system. However, we are, and always will be, responsible for all costs over and above their obligation to us. That is, when CBH/SAA has to retain a legal team to protect us and our sport, it will be at our expense. This is why your donations are so important to the Legislative Defense Fund in any amount you can afford. Clubs, Regions, Organizations and Businesses may show the amount of their contributions as a way to inspire others to do the same. Again, I would like to thank those listed below in addition to those that donated previously for their support.
