2019 Pacific Coast Archery Festival

By David Jockish

The Pacific Coast Archery Festival is not just a tournament, it is an event designed to bring together a diverse set of archers to share in the sport that they love. Given the unique facilities we have at Conejo Valley Archers in Simi Valley (64-acre range with 3 venues) we are offering 3 tournaments over 2-days (NFAA 900 round, 25 target 3D and an NFAA 28 target field round), for your archery enjoyment.

Now, what makes an "Archery Festival" different from just a "tournament?"

Come on out to the 2019 Pacific Coast Archery Festival.

RV (full hookup) park and camping available next to the range at Tapo-Canyon Park (camping reservations recommended) <http://www.ventura.org/inland-parks/tapo-canyon-simi-valley>

Free on-site dry camping is available on the range in designated areas.

Vendors, clubs, business and archery related organizations are welcome to set up booths, but please contact us so we can reserve spaces for you.

If you have any questions about the event, please feel free to call Clark Pentico @ 805 630 1749 or e-mail your questions to pcaf-registration@cvarchers.com

-We have designed the event to have three tournament formats which should bring archers together that often don't cross paths (i.e. many target archers have never shot a 3D course)

- It is a way for the archery community to come together and share in our love of the sport, like no other event.

-Shoot all three tournaments and you have the opportunity for bragging rights as the Pacific Coast Archery Festival Grand Champion

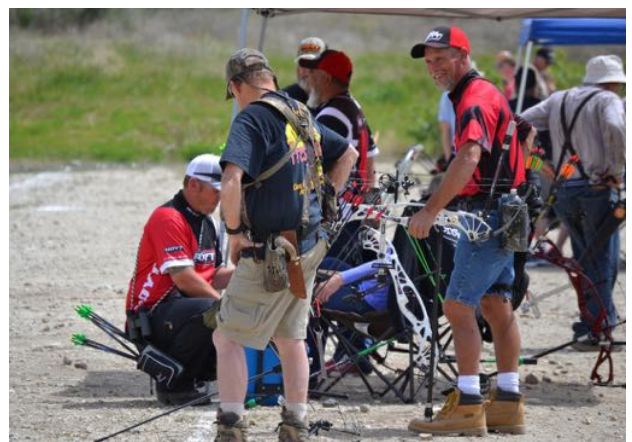

-Encourage clubs to set up a hospitality tent for your team. Hang out with your buddies and make new friends with surrounding clubs. Hand out literature about your club and upcoming events.

-Archery related vendors can set up booths to show or sell merchandise

-Various archery demonstration during the day.

-You can shoot 1, 2 or 3 tournaments over 2 days.

So, if you are looking for a new archery experience, this might be just what you need.

A Lifetime Achievement

Wayne Raupe

By Earl "EW" Williams

Wayne's accomplishments as a bowhunter; he has taken bear, elk, caribou, antelope and deer. Which includes whitetail, black tail, mule deer, Pacific hybrid. He's taken sheep and goats off the islands. Javelina, Mainland Hogs, and numerous turkey's. Many of these animals have made CBH record book.

In the category of small game he's accomplished the Golden Eagle Award and I believe he is close to completing the Double Eagle Award.

Wayne is always giving, he shares his life experiences, takes the time to show and teach what he's learned to newcomers, regardless if it's bow hunting or target archery. He's always putting himself out there whether it's showing someone the proper method of shooting a bow or how to clean and field dress an animal. Wayne makes friends wherever he goes.

He's never been shy about carrying on a conversation!

He's always promoting our sport. Wayne has dedicated his life to archery and his love for "the great outdoors". He's always proud to talk and promote CBH.

Wayne always made CBH/SAA a priority. While he served as president he gave up hunt's to attend meetings to represent us and protect our rights as bowhunters in the State of California.

Wayne attended many meetings for Legislation, Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation, National Wild Turkey Federation, The Houndsman Association, The California Varmint Calling Association.

Whatever the cause, Wayne would be there fighting for our rights as Hunters in the state of California. He was always an ambassador for our sport.

It was an honor for me to have been asked to present the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award to my friend, my hunting partner and brother in the outdoors.

Everyone Has Their First Cover Story

By Samantha Schwartz

After two seasons of hunting the Arizona desert for deer without any success, I decided to switch it up a bit. Luckily, I was invited on a guided hunt by my friend Chris Levai. This hunt was to take place in Missouri with Weaubleau Creek Outfitters (WCO) with a total of seven hunters in our group. Coming from California, I had only done spot and stalk style hunting, so the idea of sitting and hunting from a tree stand was completely new. Let's be honest, I was like many hunters who started off their hunting career with spot and stalks, I thought this tree stand thing would be a breeze and pretty much a guarantee for success. Going into the hunt I thought I would be sitting in the tree and the deer would be just hanging out below me, grazing along, ultimately giving me that perfect 20-yard shot. Boy, was I wrong!

The first afternoon we arrived at Weaubleau Creek we were able to go out for an evening hunt, mostly to just show everyone to their stands, make sure everyone could get into their stand and was comfortable with the style of stand and/or blind. It was my very first time in a tree stand and let's just say I was less than graceful getting over the rail and into the chair, but that is why someone very smart invented harnesses.

After getting all settled, it wasn't very long before I spotted my first deer, but I could only see the side of its butt. Was it a buck or just a doe? Now, I did have a doe tag as well, but I decided before ever getting in that stand that I wasn't going home with anything less than an 8 point buck. Not being able to tell what it was that had disappeared behind the trees, I continued to scan my area and range out specific spots so that I was ready! About fifteen minutes later I saw that butt again but still couldn't make it out if it

Was a doe or buck. So an hour later when a nice 8 point buck appeared between the trees, I didn't know what to do! I stood up and tried to re-range where he was standing just to make sure he was truly at that 40-yard tree, I had ranged shortly before, and he was! I had already grabbed my bow, so I put away my binos and started to draw back when he disappeared behind some trees and quickly got out of range. Two thoughts crossed my mind as that buck disappeared. Man, was my heart racing! And boy, I really don't know what I'm doing!

Darkness fell quickly and my first tree stand hunt came to an end. Excited after seeing a buck on my first night and having had the opportunity to make a shot, that is, if I was a little more prepared, I went back to the house with lots of questions. What do I do if the buck doesn't stop? What if I don't have time to range him? Pretty much I was wanting step by step instructions on something that could be very unpredictable. Armed with great advice from the amazing guides at WCO and great friends I was ready for my first full day in the stand.

The first day started off very early and very slow... I didn't see a single creature (besides those damn squirrels!) until around 1 pm in the afternoon when I spotted a flock of turkeys 60 yards out. The turkeys were going in the direction of the shooting path I had already ranged out. I slowly grabbed my bow and stood up, they were around 50 yards at this point. The day before I had learned how quickly an opportunity could close so I drew my bow back. My biggest fear of hunting is wounding an animal so I knew that no matter what, I was not taking a shot on a little turkey unless they came within 25 yards from me. So I kept glancing at my ranged 20-yard mark. They were following my path perfectly! 40 yards, 30 yards, 20 yards, crap! There were 3 different turkeys within my 20-yard range! With two either sex turkey tags in my backpack, and not knowing what to do, I started moving my bow back and forth at full draw, thinking to myself, which ones bigger?

Which one do I shoot? Ok, let's not freak out, first one to give me a good shot is the one. Right in line with my 20-yard tree one of the turkey's gave me a broadside shot, and I took it. The wings flew out and she made it 6 yards before I watched her fall. Omg! I just killed a turkey! I just shot the very first thing with my bow! Surprised by the fact that all the other turkeys didn't run too far, I sat and watched until they finally walked out of my view. Getting out of the stand, shaking with excitement as I walked up to see my first kill, it didn't feel real. After double checking my turkey was indeed dead, I called my guide, "I killed a turkey, what do I do now?" "Get back in the stand and kill a buck!", The guide replied. So I grabbed my turkey, walked back to the stand, dropped the turkey on the ground and climbed back up. Unfortunately, the rest of the day was uneventful, but it still felt pretty good bringing that turkey back and being the first to kill anything out of our group of seven. Now, I was ready to be the first to kill a buck!

The next day was an exciting one! It consisted of the best two hours of sitting in that stand the whole trip. Within those two hours, I saw one doe followed by 5 different bucks, but they were all hot on her trail! Two forkys and two decent 8 points came in nose down, moving quickly. For each one, I tried to use the deer call to get them to stop or at the very least look at me! All four didn't even flinch! As I said, they were hot on that doe's trail! Those boys were rushing in from every direction! The fifth one was moving a little slower and more within my range, so I figured I would try the call again. This time with my bow in hand, I blew the call, OMG! He stopped! But he stopped behind the tree, and I don't have a good shot. Unsure if the buck behind the tree had spotted me, I blew the call again, he ran off like a freight train! This was when I learned to never use a call twice in a row or really at all if you aren't ready to make the shot. This is also when I "learned" how to make the call noise myself, it's not pretty, but it was proven effective later!

After two hours of deer running in and out of sight it had slowed down, and I finally sat down again. This was when I knew that I loved this tree stand thing! Being in the middle of it all, watching as these deer searched for that hot doe and the doe running like heck to get away.

The part that amazed me the most was that none of them ever knew I was standing there, admiring their every move. This is fun!

The next day was the slowest of them all as it was raining hard throughout the morning and into the afternoon, this was the only day I did not sit in my stand all day. Another thing that I learn is a must, as my guide Rob would say, "Dig your feet in the mud and stay put" Let me tell you, that was sound advice because all of my action came in the middle of the day, between the "usual" morning and evening peaks in activity. If I hadn't sat the entire day the other days, I would not have gotten my turkey or my buck. But being discouraged by the rain, I went in for a few hours and even after returning that night, I didn't see anything. All of the other seven in my group did not see anything either, so it was a very discouraging day for us all.

With the last day being upon me I was getting anxious, was I not going to get the buck I thought was a guaranteed slam dunk on this tree stand, guided hunt? The last day started off slow. Then from behind my tree, I spotted a deer, but it was only a doe. Another deer comes into view, dang! Another doe. Then all of a sudden the buck I was hoping for appeared from behind the trees, it was a really nice 8 point! Immediately, I knew this one was mine! Never before had I been so sure, I grabbed my bow and quickly re-ranged some spots as I couldn't remember the yardage for this not ideal shooting lane, with an awkward against the side of the tree shot. He was at 60 yards, again, having that fear of wounding, I already decided I would not shoot at a buck further than 40 yards. So I got the 40-yard range and waited as this buck slowly made his way towards me with now 3 does surrounding him. He reached 50 yards, shoot! One of the does spooked! Continued on page 6

Oh good, she didn't go far and is eating again. But he stopped and started looking around. I froze, praying he wouldn't see me just peaking out from behind my tree. He put his head down again, thank God! But then he just turned around and walked off in the opposite direction disappearing behind the trees.

After that buck disappeared, I thought for sure that my hunt was over and that I wouldn't see another deer. Sitting there, discouraged, the day passing by, continually looking behind me hoping that buck would reappear. Texting the others in the group, who also were not seeing anything. Again, I was sure he was it, and no more deer were coming. Then a few hours later, there was a sparkle of hope when a doe trotted into view, even better, a buck was following, but wait, it's just a forky! As I stated earlier, I didn't want to shoot a forky. However, it was the last afternoon of the hunt, and a forky was sounding better than going home empty handed. So I decided right then, that if that forky gave me a good shot, I was taking it! That fork chased the doe in circles around me, and as he was finally starting to slow down he was 14 yards from me, already drawn back, I let out a call, and nothing. He didn't even take his eyes off that doe for a second and proceeded to run after her until I could no longer see either of them.

Totally discouraged, I sat in my stand, going a little stir crazy by this point, and then another glimmer of hope, another doe had run in and out along my 40-yard path. I stood and waited, 15 mins, 30 mins, an hour, nothing! I finally sat back down and within the next 30 mins. I spotted a small fork run in and out of view in the distance, still not impressed, I remained seated. Then shortly after, I spotted antlers about 50-60yards straight behind some trees in front of me. I sprung out of my seat. Slowly grabbed my bow. Watching, waiting, as he came into view, sweet! There were 3 points on the side I can see and he is headed towards my 40-yard range point. He was about 30 yards away and moving right along, I drew back, aimed towards that mark of my shooting path (a break in the trees) and kept him in view out of the corner of my eye. As soon as he stepped into a clear path I made the "call" with my mouth, he stopped, I lined up and let that arrow fly! My heart was racing that entire time until I let go of that arrow and I swear it skipped a beat! I am a pretty adventurous person, but I have never felt an adrenaline rush quite like that, not even while skydiving!

My heart dropped when the deer fell straight to the ground! Wait! Aren't they suppose to run!? The panic set in, followed by sadness when I watched as the buck tried to get back up on all four legs and couldn't! Oh shit! I spinned him! Mortified and unsure what to do next, as he sat facing me, I immediately put another arrow into his vitals and it was all over very quickly.

Obviously, it was not what I expected when I imagined killing a buck with my bow, and it was hard having to witness his initial struggle to get away. However, when all was said and done, I was still excited that I was able to harvest one of these magnificent animals with my bow, be the only one to bring home a buck, and provide meat for my family. There are so many worse ways these animals die, sometimes it is days or weeks of suffering before they succumb. The fact that this was a quick and humane death makes me feel more at peace with the initial sadness that I felt.

Without WCO, I would not be able to call myself a bowhunter officially, and for that, I couldn't be more thankful or excited. The guys who own it, Steve and Rob along with their guide John were amazing and so knowledgeable. The best thing to come out of this hunt was all the things I learned that helped make me a better hunter. These are lessons I will carry with me on all my future hunts, and I couldn't be more thankful! So again, thanks to everyone at WCO! It was a great time!

Whether you are a seasoned hunter or a rookie like me, I would highly recommend WCO. To all my west coast, die-hard spot and stalk hunters, don't knock it until you try it, tree stand hunting was way more challenging than I ever would have imagined. Happy hunting!

Update Straight Arrow Bow Hunters

By Pam Severtson

As you can see in this edition of the CBH/SAA newsletter, we have opened up for registration in the 2019 Western Classic Trail Shoot!!!!

Thanks to so many people, near and far, clubs, shops and businesses that have given their time, money and/or positive attitudes to help us get through this. As I write this article and putting together our booth for Vegas, I get emotional to see how far we have actually come...looking at the photos from the beginning and remembering all of the smoke and ash that we were in, the heat for the first couple months, the magnitude of what was to come, I, and I'm speaking on behalf of the club too, are forever grateful for each and every one of you.

We are looking forward to returning archers, new archers, a new course, looking forward to the new barn (which will be completed by print time), new guineas/whiskers in the ground, new backstops, fresh paint and with any help from Mother Nature.....green grass, oak trees to bloom and vegetation growing.

Thank you once again and we hope you follow us on Facebook for our updates.

Paradise, California

On November 8th just after 6:30 in the morning, the fire known as Camp Fire 2018 began to move through the small town of Paradise California, consuming pretty much everything in its path, and devastating an entire community. A little over 48 hours from then, it marked its place in history as the deadliest and most destructive forest fire California has ever seen. Whether you've lived there your entire life, grew up there and moved out, came to visit, just passing through, or simply read about the people this fire has affected - this majestic little town and its tight-knit community left a lasting impression. The fire caused at least 86 civilian fatalities. It covered an area of 153,336 acres (almost 240 sq. miles), and destroyed 18,804 structures, with most of the damage occurring within the first four hours. Total damage was $16.5 billion; one-quarter of the damage, $4 billion, was not insured. Joan and Joe Becker lost their home and belongings, and possibly others in our archery family. If you feel you could help them, please reach out. I remember being in the same situation in 2003, when the Cedar Fire took our home and many precious, irreplaceable things.

Also, Yahi Bowmen is going to host the Veterans Benefit Shoot at their range since the loss of the Orestimba Range. Please try to support our Veterans at this Shoot! All money goes to Purple Heart Anglers. They take Veterans on hunting and fishing trips. Way to help out Yahi!

Remember if donating to help, check with Charity Navigator to help you filter the legit from the shady organizations.

Howard Hill Memorabilia Found!

We have a friend of over 30 years who is quite a lady. Her name is Liz Lawson. Liz was raised on Catalina Island just twenty-three miles across the sea (as the song goes) from Los Angeles Harbor. Growing up on Catalina and living in Avalon was obviously very precious to her, out of her love for the island she has become one of its major historians. Liz's father was the hunting lodge and game manager for Philip K. Wrigley who bought the island in 1919.

Now in her eighties and still as active as she can be, she tells us many tales of the early days. My wife Nancy, her Dad (Paul), Liz and I had gone out for dinner recently. Liz presented me a copy of the inaugural issue of the Santa Catalina Pictorial (Vol. 1, No. 1 of March 22, 1949) in which this small article of a boar hunt by Howard Hill and his hunting partner Errol Flynn was printed. There were only six issues of the magazine printed in its short career; Liz is in possession of five of them. It is an unusual and historical collectors item and neat to find that the world's greatest archer is in the very first issue.

Notice in the picture that Howard's pants have gotten pretty dirty and that the heavy brush behind them is very typical of pig habitat on the island. Getting to the pigs was rarely easy and it appears they used the hunting dog to get the pigs out of the brush and into an area a shot could be made. The dog was probably also used to find the tusker if he ran back into the brush before taking his final breath. Errol is also wearing leather chaps to protect his legs from the cactus and harsh manzanita and toyon. He also carries a lever action rifle, as back up, to protect both he and Howard should things not go as planned.

I even speculate that the studio (Warner Bros.) may not have been too happy with Errol's choice of free-time entertainment and insisted on the rifle to protect their investment in Errol and to some degree, Howard as well. You see, Howard was also in the Warner Bros. corral, where all his short films were made with the exception of "Tembo." I believe Warner's provided the cameras and film and the distribution for "Tembo" as well.

This however was not the only piece of memorabilia to be found this evening.

Inside this magazine was a nicely folded "Canadian Club" advertisement from another magazine. The name of the magazine or the publishing date is unknown. Liz tells me that the man pictured with Howard in front of the lodge fireplace and drinking with him in the lounge is Ted Sierks who was the official photographer for the Catalina Island Company.

The picture of Howard being towed on a wave board in Avalon Harbor shows the athletic prowess of the man*. In the background you can see the round building that was the "Avalon Casino & Ball Room" in which so many of the great swing bands of the '30s & '40s played. Today it is a museum and theater of sorts. I think you will find it interesting that Howard was not only a handsome athletic man but also debonair in a wide lapel suit, open collar and ascot as you see him with Ted Sierks again at the Eagle's Nest hunting lodge lounge. Avalon, the Great White Steamship and the Casino made Catalina the island playground to many stars and other celebrities. It is obvious that Howard was comfortable and well liked in the company of these people.

This is an amazing eleven page article, request the entire article by emailing Scott Walker at scottsamuelwalker@gmail.com or Lori Raupe at lori.cbhsaa@gmail.com

THANK YOU FOR YOUR DONATIONS TO THE CBHSAA LEGISLATIVE DEFENSE FUND!
BY ROBERT MOORE- LEGISLATIVE COORDINATOR

I want to thank those that have donated funds to our Legislative Defense Fund. With your donations, your Legislative Team, representing the six DFG Regions, can attend important meetings and react to issues that are impacting our sport. We can also meet our Financial Obligations to Gaines and Associates who represent us in the state capital, at all DFG meetings, and up and down the state when and where needed. Their goals are to promote wildlife conservation and protect our archery and hunting heritage within the state political system. However, we are, and always will be, responsible for all costs over and above their obligation to us. That is, when CBH/SAA has to retain a legal team to protect us and our sport, it will be at our expense. This is why your donations are so important to the Legislative Defense Fund in any amount you can afford. Again, I would like to thank those listed below in addition to those that donated previously for their support.

This Month's Donations include:

Archery Clubs, Regions, Organizations and Businesses:

Maya Archers $100, Salinas Bowmen $200, Lodi Bowmen $500
MTBA region $400, CIBA region $2000, OBFA region $2000
