Well wishes and prayers are requested for Dick Blanke, as he had undergone kidney surgery to remove a cancerous mass. The kidney ended up being removed with the hopes that the other kidney would pick up the slack and it has not. Dick will be on dialysis, 3 days a week. Please keep Dick & Dee in your thoughts.

President's Message by Wayne Raupe

I'm back in California and still homeless and living in my, now not so new, camp trailer. Since I sold my home I have, with my 29-foot camp trailer, been in the White Mountain National Forest in AZ., Canon City Colorado, Moab Utah and back to California after each of the trips. My 1 year 10-month old truck now has 63,000 miles on it and if I'm not careful my camp trailer will have an equal number of miles on it by the end of the year. I have never owned a camp trailer prior to owning this one. How nice it is to have your house with you when on a trip... especially in hunting camp for 5 weeks where a hot meal, a good bed, a ¾ bathroom (that offers a HOT shower every day) is needed and waiting for you. I considered myself to be living "The Life of Riley". However, back here, living in my camper I have never felt so misplaced. I have all my STUFF in four different locations instead of having all my STUFF in one place which would be at my HOUSE. The need to find a house that meets all of my needs is going to be a challenge but I will find it and get all of my STUFF in one place where I have immediate, 24/7 access to it. That will be a happy day!! I have been looking here in California but that perfect house is going to cost me 1 Million bucks which is about $100 out of my price range unless all of you start supplementing my retirement income with a couple grand a month. That being said, I just don't think I'm going to get many takers to kick down that kind of donation to me so it looks like I will have to start looking in Arizona where my options are better. Now I know I haven't mentioned this before... or have I... but when I move to Arizona I will need a replacement to fill the office of President and Vice-President. But then we will also need to fill the office of the VP, 2nd VP of Hunting (Craig Fritz's) position and we are looking for someone to step into the Records Chairman and Small Game Chairman positions also. You can contact your Region's Officers who will nominate you for President, Vice President or 2nd Vice President of Hunting. Let Pam or I know ASAP so we can get your info into the Magazine so we can have an election if more than one person is running for any one office. As you know 2018 will be the 75-year anniversary for CBH/SAA and we are compiling and publishing a 75-year CBH/SAA History Book and we are looking for donations to reduce the burden on our General Fund which will also reduce the cost of the book to those of you that are planning on purchasing one or more. We have established four levels of sponsorship for you to choose from. If your donation was received prior to October 1st, 2017, your name will appear in the book at which ever level you contributed. If you choose not to have your name listed we can do that or if you have missed the cutoff date but still want to donate you can. Just know your name will not appear in the book as based upon the publication cutoff date.

Those of you that shot the 900 Round, which was located at several locations throughout the state, your scores will appear in the Magazine in two to three months as the score cards must be sent from all of the shops or clubs, where the tournament was held, to Karen Keating 2nd VP-900. The sooner the cards are sent the sooner Karen can start working on them. Karen will review all of the score cards and verify them and then determine the placement of each shooter in every class and style. It is a lengthy process so please allow her time to complete the task. It is your responsibility to ensure that in every tournament you shoot, whether it is a local Club, State, National or World tournament, your name, style, class and score are correct and legible. It's doubly important when the tournament is held at different venues like the 900 Round and Karen or other officials are not there to ask you questions to verify any issues that are found on your card. Mistakes are made when your card can't be read. So help those that are trying to rank you in your proper class and style.

Once Karen has finished verifying and compiling the scores and she has entered all of the card information into her computer she will send the results to David Bacon, our Web-Master. David will put the results on the website and also at the same time send the info to our CBH/SAA Magazine editor, Lori. Depending on when Lori gets the results will determine which issue of the Magazine it will appear in. For example, the earliest Lori can get the 900 Round results into the Magazine will be December if everything goes correctly. It will be December because Lori is working on the November issue now, in September, with the deadline being September 25th and she has not received the results as of yet. If she receives the results before October 25th the scores will be in the December issue. She will have it to the printers by the 10th of November. Those that receive the hard copy should have it arrive in the mail just before December 1st. The December electronic version should be in your email box around the 15th of November. If there is a delay because of the cards not being received by Karen or the cards are incomplete or illegible the scores could be delayed until the January issue. So, let's hope everything runs smoothly and we get them in the December issue. All State shoots will have a similar turnaround window of two to three months. I know it is lengthy and I'm sorry but it just has to be that long.

I went through the above explanation because I saw a complaint from a member stating that the scores should not take three months to be posted. Of course, when asked if he would volunteer and step into that job or one of the CBH/SAA offices that is being vacated he declined and stated that he doesn't have the time. He is too busy with work, being a father, being a husband and doing things at home. Well, none of us have the time but we step up because we care about our sport and this organization. We all have to become part of the solution... we can't just sit on the sidelines and complain.

Remember no matter what kind of bow you bend or stick you shoot we must all remain one united and strong family so can fight off the predators that are doing their best to take our sport away from us.

Harvest of Friends By "EW" Earl Williams

"I drew a once-in-a-lifetime coveted bull elk tag for Southeastern Utah."

I'm back home after 33 days on the mountain, thinking about my trip to Utah and that coveted bull elk tag that I applied for and finally drew and how the season had come and gone along with the big bull elk of my dreams. I'm asking myself how does one measure success? Is it by the size of the trophy? Is it that monster bull elk? Is it that 4 x 4 buck deer you've been chasing all your life? Perhaps, but at the age of 74 and a lifetime of bowhunting, I have learned success isn't measured in the harvest of that big game animal that you've been chasing. The real success is measured in the journey itself, in the being there, the things you see, the people you meet, the friends and loved ones you are with!

This season elk hunting in Utah couldn't have proven that point more! I didn't harvest that big bull elk of my dreams! But I took home much more. The memories of friends and family that traveled great distances just to be there to help me be "Successful".

My daughter Melanie flew all the way from Tennessee to hunt with her dad.

Tom and Sue Turner, lifelong bowhunting friends came from Woodlake, CA., just to help me once I got my bull and to hear the stories of the day.

Bob King from Chino, CA., and a member of Oranco Bowman, had a deer tag and wanted to be there to help wherever he could.

Al Winger another lifelong friend and bowhunter, and retired owner of Lake Mathews Feed Store in Riverside, CA., arrived to help and hunt elk as well.

My friend and hunting partner Wayne Raupe, President of CBH/SAA, harvested a big mature 5-year-old Spike bull on the first day... within the first thirty minutes of the season. He was supposed to go to Ogden Utah to hunt trophy mule deer on a private Ranch but chose to give that up to stay in elk camp and help me out in case I got that trophy bull.

This was my 23rd year hunting the Southern Utah mountains. I know those mountains quite well. Year after year, I would have at least one Trophy Class bull come into my tree stands and all I could do is watch those magnificent animals. My friends would tell me you need to put in for that bull elk tag. So, I finally did and on the third year I drew the coveted tag. My friend's, the Books family, who live near our hunting area, heard I finally got the bull elk tag and offered to let me use their tree stands and also offered to take me on a spot and stalk hunt in their secret area. The Lema Family, local merchants in town, offered the same thing. Well things were looking good so how could I go wrong. I had so many options and so many people offering to help. I knew success was just around the corner!

(Little did I know what was going to happen on opening morning and continue for the next 3 weeks straight.)

My daughter Melanie and I went to a spot we call "the-Ace-in-the-Hole". We got in our tree stands which were close to each other so we could watch and signal one another. That morning was quite a sight to behold, no elk but a nice 3X2 buck came in, then another and another. After 3 hours of sitting in our stands we saw a total of 10 bucks on opening morning. When we got down and checked the trail camera, reviewed it and saw that I had a nice 4x4 bull elk in the day before things were looking good, but then Melanie asked, "Dad did you hear those dogs barking?" Yes, I did, they sounded like hounds and they were all over! I wonder what's going on? Back in Camp we noticed truck after truck of Houndsmen coming into our hunting area. We found out that the Utah Division of Wildlife Resources (DNR) issued multi-season bear tags for this area we had Houndsmen from Wyoming, Colorado and Utah hunting with clients who had drawn the special bear tags.

For the next 3 weeks, every morning and evening, we sat in our tree stands waiting... waiting for early morning daylight or in the evening for the sun to drop behind the mountains in the west. Every time we climbed into our stands we knew it was going to be different, that is, we knew we were going to see elk and the hounds would not be in the area. However, that was never the case. Just as daylight approached or the sun started to go down, the hounds would start their howling, barking and running throughout the forest. They ran under our tree stands morning and night for the next 3 weeks. To say we were discouraged is an understatement! My ace-in-the-hole treestand area did not see a single buck after opening morning or an elk. I had set up five tree stands and 5 trail cameras it didn't matter what stand we got into we had hounds running through them morning and evening.

Wayne who was in one of my lower tree stands was very fortunate to get his elk opening morning before the hounds disrupted the normal movement of the elk. Friends who offered me their tree stands never got an elk either and all they had on their trail cameras were hounds running through their area as well.

I talked to a couple of different Houndsmen, who by the way were very nice, explained these special bear tags we're good for all four seasons, basically the entire year. This was the first time the DNR had issued this many tags in this area and the "All Season Tags". I can't blame the Houndsmen they were just doing what they do during the seasons set by the DNR. The problem lies with the DNR and how they scheduled the bear season during the archery season and with a Limited-Entry bull elk tag that was not very good planning on their part. We have written letters to address this issue and with any luck this won't happen again.

So with all this activity things weren't going very well not only for me but also Mary and many other friends and hunters on the mountain. My good friend, Tony Lema, surprised me one afternoon when he showed up in camp with a mutual friend, Ivan Winder, who was a known local legend as the best elk hunter in the area and the best elk caller on the mountain. Ivan used to be the owner of Carroll bows and he has taken many bucks and bulls in the area and has also won many archery tournaments and championships in his day. He is 81 years old and I've known Ivan for about 10 years. Tony approached Ivan and told him what was going on with the hounds and Ivan responded by saying "I want to call a bull in for Earl".

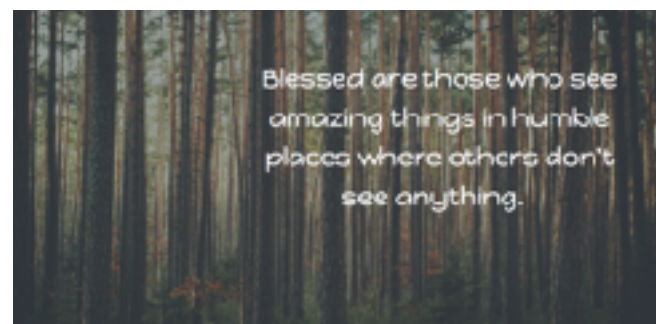

Wow! What an honor and privilege. So off we went to this very special spot to try and call in a bull elk. For 3 hours and about 2 ½ miles of walking three old friends, Tony age 76, Ivan amazing 81, and myself 74, shared three lifetimes of hunting experiences and stories. Those three hours they spent with me that evening was very special. I was honored and very humbled that these two men would take the time out of their day and then go on a 2.5 mile hike up the mountain just to help me get my bull. To top it all off I got to listen to and watch Ivan do his magic with his calls... that was priceless. Even with all the pressure from the hounds Ivan got one bull to answer but it hung up and wouldn't come in. To spend time with two old friends in the woods trying to call in a bull elk was an experience of a lifetime that I will never forget.

So I didn't get a bull elk. But like I said earlier. How does one measure "success"? Well this is how I measure the success of my 2017, elk hunt.

One morning early in the season, while sitting in a tree stand in a meadow surrounded by a grove of quaking aspen, I started bugling and I got an immediate response! Then another and another! I had three bull elk answering my call. This went on for about 20 minutes. What an adrenaline rush! I had three bull elk all responding to my call! They never came in for me to have an opportunity because once again I was surrounded by the sounds of hounds barking. However, it was still a once-in-a-lifetime experience for me. I took time to thank God for that moment because I realize just how blessed I was. At 74 years old, I was sitting in a tree stand that I put up myself. And this past year I had been through 3 eye surgeries and I could still see. I was surrounded by family, friends and loved ones who all wanted me to be successful and were there to help me. I realized right then my trip was a success!

Thank you,
God bless and good hunting.
"EW" Earl Williams

Caucus Shoot

The 2017 Caucus shoot this year was held Wednesday August 30th at the Cordova Shooting Center in Rancho Cordova. This event has been taking place for around 12 years and its purpose is to educate our states congressional leaders to wildlife conservation and shooting sports. Conservation partners contribute time and funds to sponsor this event. Firearms instructors from the Department of Fish and Wildlife provided instruction on the trap and skeet ranges. Archery instructors Sharyn Granville, Robert Williams, Johnnie Waddles, John Laubinger and Carlos Rodriguez from Maya Archers provided instruction on the archery range. A total of 12 legislators attended with some of their staffing to experience the event. Overall the event went well, for several years now Assemblyman Marc Steinorth (R40/Rancho Cucamonga) and a few of his staff spent time at the archery range. The 3D pig gets quite a bit of attention.

Thank You for your Donations to the CBHSAA Legislative Defense Fund!
By Robert Moore Legislative Coordinator

I want to thank those that have donated funds to our Legislative Defense Fund. With your donations, you're Legislative Team, representing the six DFG Regions, can attend important meetings and react to issues that are impacting our sport. We can also meet our Financial Obligations to Gaines and Associates who represent us in the state capital, at all DFG meetings, and up and down the state when and where needed. Their goals are to promote wildlife conservation and protect our archery and hunting heritage within the state political system. However, we are, and always will be, responsible for all costs over and above their obligation to us. That is, when CBH/SAA has to retain a legal team to protect us and our sport, it will be at our expense. This is why your donations are so important to the Legislative Defense Fund in any amount you can afford.

Clubs, Regions, Organizations and Businesses may show the amount of their contributions as a way to inspire others to do the same. Again, I would like to thank those listed below in addition to those that donated previously for their support.

This Month's Donations include:
Archery Clubs, Regions, Organizations and Businesses:

Black Mountain Bowmen Archery Club, $500

Individuals:

Daniel Heal, $100
